

Katherine Sharp and Liz Davis

Emily, Lisa, Renee and Heidi Edwards

Debi Woods, Marina DiBlasio and Monique Seabridge

Michelle and Cameron Jorgensen

Lilly show blooms for cancer benefit

Matthew Mayer, Renee Ronnie and Johnny Bokolas

Annual luncheon aids STOP! Children's Cancer of Palm Beach County.

It was the first time Matthew Mayer modeled clothes on a runway, but when asked if he had pre-show jitters, the 3-year-old cancer survivor nonchalantly replied, "Not really." Then his mother, Linda, who was at his side, piped in, "He's not nervous, but I sure am!"

The annual luncheon for STOP! Children's Cancer of Palm Beach County Inc. featured a Lilly Pulitzer Fashion Show at Lost Tree Club in North Palm Beach. The hook was that the models were current and former pediatric oncology patients at Nicklaus Children's Hospital at St. Mary's Medical Center.

In addition to a room of more than 300 proud parents and supporters was none other than Lilly Pulitzer herself, who "wouldn't have missed this for the world."

STOP! Children's Cancer of Palm Beach County Inc. is a non-profit organization composed of women dedicated to finding a cure for children's cancer. All funds are earmarked for pediatric oncology research and donated to Shands Hospital in Gainesville and Nicklaus Children's Hospital in West Palm Beach. More than $2 million dollars has been raised and donated since 1983.

Story and photos by Michael Price

Rozz Paxson and Barbara Nicklaus

Kristen Davis, Lilly Pulitzer and Juliana Gomez

Nancy Sollitto and Margaret Collins

Kathy Gibson and Katie Gardner

Jessica Kocha, Courtney Sowers and Elisa Saunders-Stahman

Melissa Singer with Ben and Sandy Tabakin

Delores Coltan, Regina Bedoya and Mary Lou Nason

Pat Swasey, Stephen Hunger and Julie Healey

Mary Lou Desmond and Lynn Johnson